About the artist: Priti Lathia

My work has a vibrant, colorful and joyous feeling. I love to paint nature with a painterly flair. My paintings are inspired by places I have visited or still life subjects that have inspired me. While painting I like to think about color, light and view point.

I create and sell artwork through group and solo shows, galleries and my professional blog.

I also offer high quality fine art instruction that teaches students how to "see and read" paintings.

The curriculum (designed by me) includes the use of several media - pencil, charcoal, soft pastels, oil pastels, watercolors and acrylics. Adult students and children create paintings in several genres including still-life, flowers, the figure, landscape, portraiture, and cartooning.
